

Press Release

Teknisk Gummi Horsens A/S, Denmark and the worldwide operating Böttcher Group, both companies that produce rollercoverings for rotational symmetrical applications, agreed to cooperate in the future. The Böttcher Group acquired all company shares of Teknisk Gummi Horsens A/S with effect from October 1st, 2014. "With this agreement we are now in the position to complete our technical know-how by additional comprehensive know-how in the areas of graphical application, rollercoverings, printing chemicals and printing blankets from the world market leader which also includes an active and competent service for these product groups on the market. Böttcher, as being a technological leader for these applications, is an ideal supplement to our existing product range", says the former shareholder Keld Sund Nielsen, who will keep on as Managing Director the business with the customers as before and will lead the company Teknisk Gummi Horsens A/S.

With Teknisk Gummi Horsens A/S the Böttcher Group will from now on also be represented in Denmark with an own production site and sales force, not only for graphical roller application but also with rollercoverings for all industrial areas. The Böttcher Group, a family-owned company from Germany, founded in 1725, is represented worldwide with 1,700 employees in 34 different countries with own subsidiaries and production sites being the technical and market leader for rollercoverings for all industrial and graphical applications.
